

Transport around the world

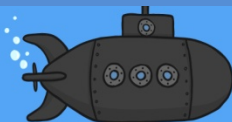

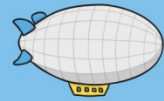

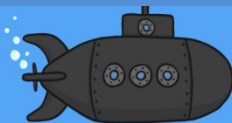

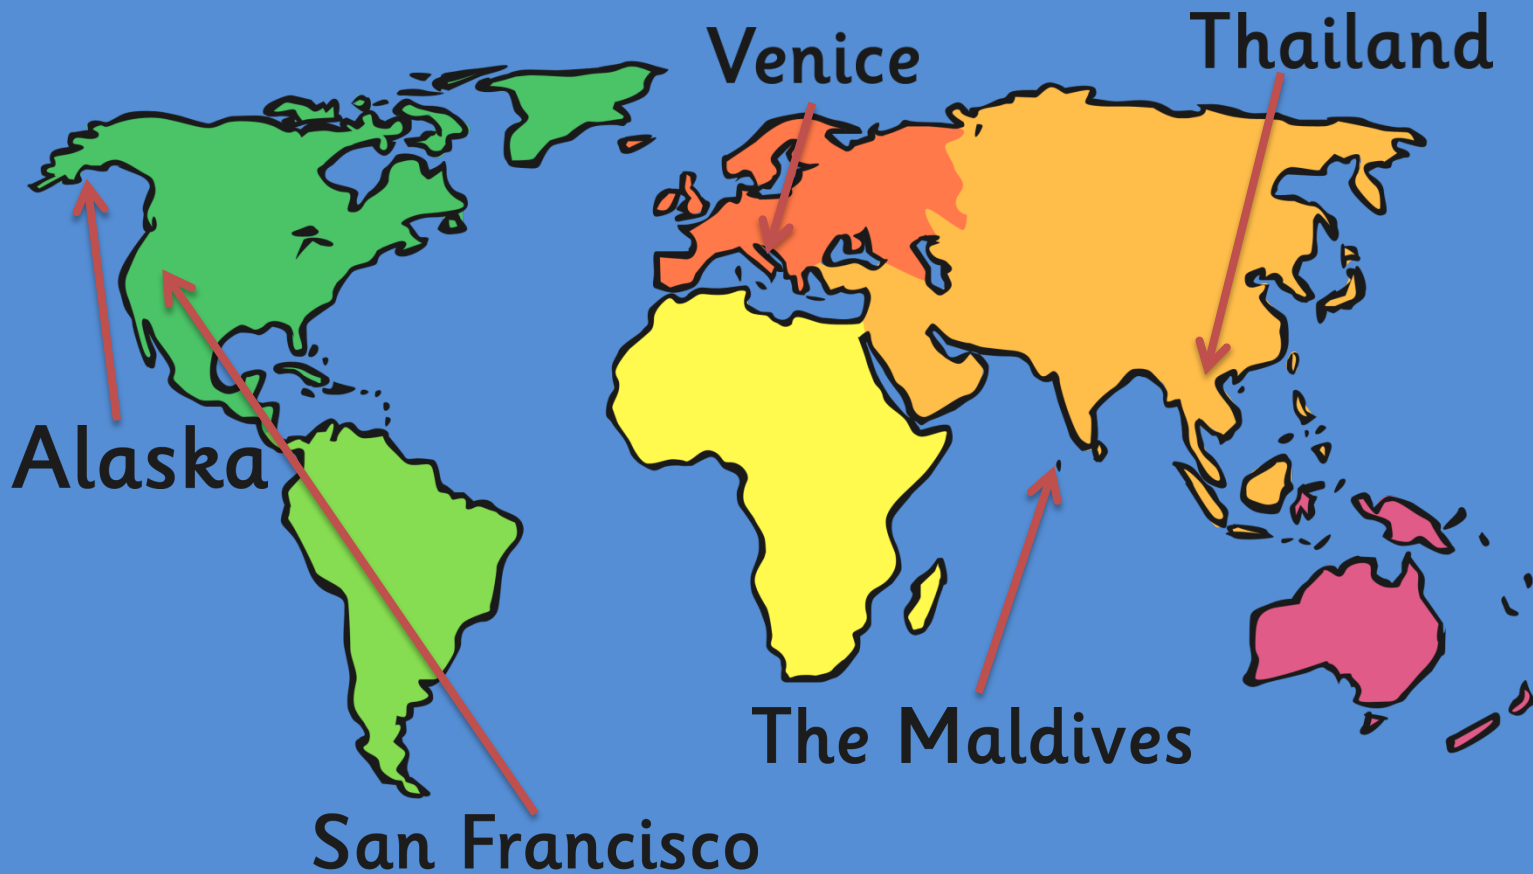

We all use very different modes of transport around the world.

Can you think of a few?

What modes of transport have changed a lot over the years and what have not?

Click on the name of a country to find out about their transport

Venice is a city in Italy.

People travel on the river in long, narrow boats called Gondolas. CLICK FOR MENU

Photo courtesy of titoalfredo(@flickr.com) - granted under creative commons licence - attribution

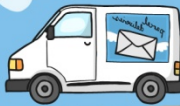

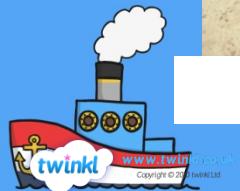

Bangkok is a city in Thailand.

Some people in Thailand like to use Tuk-tuks to get around.

Photo courtesy james_gordon_losangeles(Carlos Castillo) (@flickr.com) - granted under creative commons licence - attribution

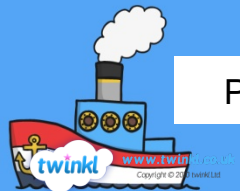

Here is a taxi driver using a tuk tuk.

CLICK FOR MENU

Photo courtesy Toby Simkin(@flickr.com) - granted under creative commons licence - attribution

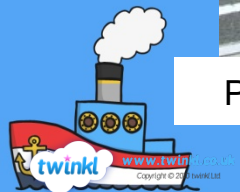

San Francisco is in North America.

People use trams a lot because there are a lot of hills

Photo courtesy Toby Simkin(@flickr.com) - granted under creative commons licence - attribution

CLICK FOR MENU

Alaska is very snowy.

Can you think of a few ways the people of Alaska might travel?

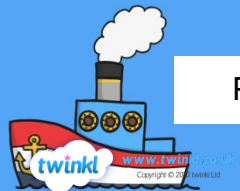

Photo courtesy frank1030 (@flickr.com) - granted under creative commons licence - attribution

Dogs

Photo courtesy Visit Anchorage PR(@flickr.com) - granted under creative commons licence - attribution

Skidoos!

CLICK FOR MENU

Photo courtesy Visit Anchorage PR(@flickr.com) - granted under creative commons licence - attribution

The Maldives are a group of tiny islands.

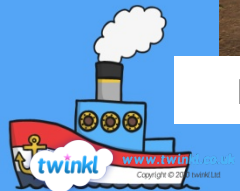

Photo courtesy Commonwealth Secretariat (@flickr.com) - granted under creative commons licence - attribution

Boats are used to travel from island to island.

Photos courtesy of caribb (@flickr.com) - granted under creative commons licence - attribution

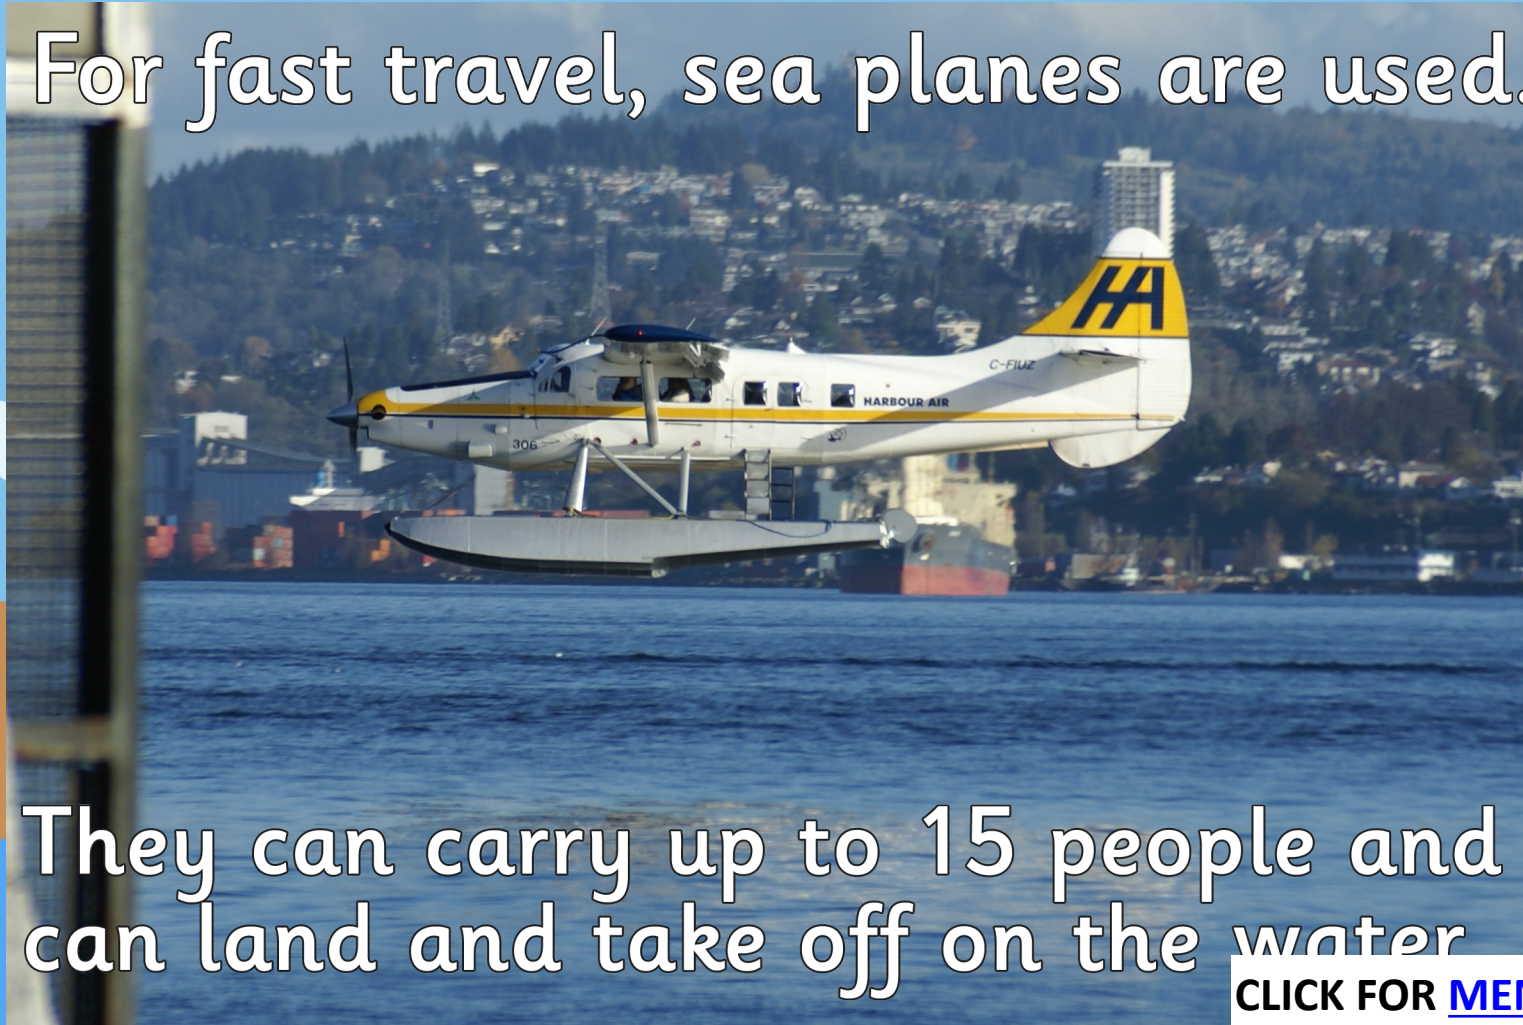

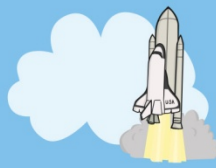

For fast travel, sea planes are used.

They can carry up to 15 people and can land and take off on the water

CLICK FOR MENU

Photo courtesy Skrewtape(@flickr.com) - granted under creative commons licence - attribution

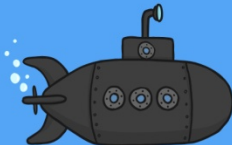

What types of transport looked the most fun?

Which ones are better for the environment?

THE END